
Des Moines PASS Virtual Meeting - July 13, 2020 Online Only

 Due to COVID-19, until further notice, IASSUG will hold only Virtual Meetings. No in-person attendance ***

Beginning with our July meeting, we will be using the PASS Event Registration option (instead of Eventbrite). Likewise, we will use Microsoft Teams as our online meeting software. A link to the meeting will be sent to all attendees by email instead of publishing the link on our website.

To Register, you will need to log in to our website using your PASS email address. Afterwards, you will then see the "Register" button for our meeting event and the event posting on the PASS.org website. You can unregister by click the same button to remove your email from the attendance list. If you need assistance, please send us an email at iassug@pass.org.

AWS vs. Azure: What's The Difference For A DBA?

Everyone has strong opinions and reactions to which cloud database platform companies should be using but how different are they, really? What features does one cloud provider support that the other might not? How will normal DBA activities, such as backups and restores, change depending on the cloud provider your company uses? Join me in this session as I share my migration stories and discuss the results of my research about how AWS and Azure are different and how many of my daily tasks and tools changed as our company migrated to AWS. Come and listen as I share what I have learned on this journey from on-premises to the cloud. Join me and find out which platform I would use.

Corey Hambrick, Database Administrator Cafepress

Corey Hambrick is a Database Administrator for Cafepress. He has been working in IT for over 20 years, using SQL Server since 2000. He has worked on SQL Server since SQL 7.0. He enjoys learning and sharing his knowledge with others in the user community. When he is not being a geek, he can be found with his family, at his church and helping in the local jail ministry with those involved in the substance abuse program getting their lives back on track.
